

WE ALL SUCCEED, WHEN WE ALL SUCCEED
CHALLENGE CARD

Communicate

Bobbing, flapping and folding back the ears can tell the other elephants exactly how one is feeling.

Artwork by Kelly Turnbull

Community

Herds with the oldest matriarchs and the most diverse relationship bonds survive longest in the savannah.

Artwork by Kelly Turnbull

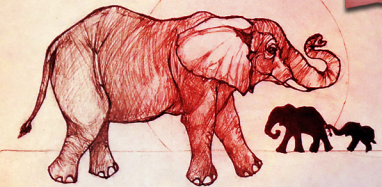

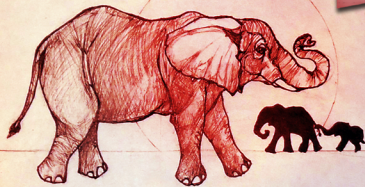

Supports

Create support systems in your city for relationship building and strong, healthy families and friends to cross big divides.

Artwork by Kelly Turnbull

INFORMATION IS POWER!
CHALLENGE CARD

Connect

Create apps or stations in your city to help citizens keep one another informed.

Artwork by Kelly Turnbull

Cycles

Elephants only use about 40% of the nutrients from their food, expelling the rest as waste for birds and dung beetles to use.

Artwork by Kelly Turnbull

Re-Use

Digestion, partnered with the local ecosystem, breaks down used material into non-toxic chemicals and helps spread plant seeds.

Artwork by Kelly Turnbull